

GETTING OFF ON THE RIGHT FOOT

When you have your first meeting with your other half it can be pretty worrying to know what's the right thing to do or say.

Here's a good checklist of things to establish and talk about with your mentee when you meet them:

- How should you keep in contact with your mentee?
- What are good times for you to contact each other?
- How often should you meet up with each other?
- Have you established with your mentee that you will be a study skills mentor only?
- What is your mentee looking for in a mentor?
- What are the best things that you can offer as a mentor?
- Do you know where to direct your mentee for further study skills help?
- Do you know where to direct your mentee for help with personal problems?
